BIO

Financial Health Coach. Author. Serial Entrepreneur. Runner. Frequent Laugher.

Kristina Wise has made it her life's work to master money. She is a self-made multi-millionaire with the equivalent of at least two PhDs of intense study with some of the business world's most sage and seasoned mentors. Her training and experience has built proven systems that work-- in both good and challenging times.

After nearly losing her life in 2013 and spending almost half a million dollars to recover, her mission is now to inspire others to build extraordinary wealth and optimal health.

Named one of the 100 Most Influential Real Estate Leaders in the country, she has been featured in USA TODAY and recognized by Apple and Evernote for her creative leadership with emerging technologies.

Kristina is an international speaker and award winning author of the Amazon bestseller "Falling For Money," a romance novel for your bank account.

She may wear athletic clothes and a baseball cap for almost any occasion, but don't let that fool you...Financial sovereignty means the freedom to choose. Kristina chooses to show up in a baseball cap instead of a Lamborghini, even though she could choose the latter. Learn more about her money school for micro-business owners at www.SovereigntyAcademy.com.
